This publication was made possible by a grant from the Associated Students of Madison.

Funded in part by the Associated Students of Madison. ASM does not necessarily endorse the beliefs or actions of this organization.

The papers collected here were presented at the 2004 Workshop In General Linguistics (WIGL), which was held at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, on Friday February 27th. Many thanks to the volunteers who made the workshop a success, as well as the many participants from the University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee and University of Wisconsin–Madison, and to Tom Purnell for his presentation.

This volume will be the first LSO working papers to be published online as well as in print. We plan to establish an archive of working papers on the LSO web site, <<http://ling.wisc.edu/lso/home.htm>>. A number of papers were presented which could not be printed in this issue due to time constraints; we hope to follow up this edition with an online supplement later in the year to give those others an opportunity to publish their work.

Special thanks to Maggie Stack, Rebecca Shields and Ryan Hanke for their help with proofreading and preparing this publication. Their efforts were indispensable.
