

16th Workshop in General Linguistics (WIGL 16)

Organized by the University of Wisconsin–Madison Linguistics Student Organization

Saturday, March 30, 2019

7191 Helen C. White Hall; 600 N Park St; Madison, WI 53706

8:00–8:30	Breakfast & registration
One: Listening and Identification
8:30–9:00	Trevor Perry & Bomjun Kwon University of Minnesota & Gallaudet University	The Benefit of Sentence Context Depends on How Speech Audibility is Limited
9:00–9:30	Jonathan Jibson University of Wisconsin–Madison	Dynamic Formant Variability and Vowel Inherent Spectral Change
9:30–10:00	Cris Font-Santiago University of Wisconsin–Madison	DO They Sound Different? Vowel Space Differences between Monolingual English and Simultaneous Spanish-English Bilinguals
10:00–10:15	Break
Two: Dialectology and Documentation
10:15–10:45	Sarah Holmstrom, Charlotte Vanhecke et al. University of Wisconsin–Madison	The Unfolding of t -Glottalization in Real Time: Evidence from Eastern Wisconsin
10:45–11:15	Kelsie Pattillo, Lauren Clark & Jieun Lee University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee	Dialectology, Prevelar Raising, and Collaborative Language Research in the Undergraduate Classroom
11:15–11:45	Wossen Shibeshi Addis Ababa University	Grammatical Description of Oyda: A Least-Known Omotic Language
11:45–1:00	Lunch
Three: Syntax and Morphology
1:00–1:30	Kamel Elsaadany Gulf University for Science and Technology	On the Syntactic and Lexical Configuration of Arabic Verbless Constructions
1:30–2:00	Joonho Choi Seoul National University	A Diachronic Study on the Korean Irrealis Marker -eul in Typological Perspective
2:00–2:15	Break
Four: Phonology and L2 Adaptation
2:15–2:45	Jahnvi Narkar Wayne State University	Adaptation of English Alveolar Stops in Indo-Aryan Languages
2:45–3:15	Hamideh Bagherzadeh University of Wisconsin–Milwaukee	Vowel Epenthesis of /s C(C)/ Onsets in Persian/English Inter-Phonology: A Longitudinal Case Study
3:15–3:45	Lynn Zhang University of Wisconsin–Madison	[Vai] Can't Beijing Speakers Pronounce [w]? Investigating the Second Language Phonology of Beijing Dialect Speakers
3:45–4:00	Break
Five: Invited Speaker
4:00–5:15	Caroline A. Niziolek University of Wisconsin–Madison	Language Made Audible: How Speech Acoustics Reflect Communicative Goals