

Summer 2022

Linguistics Courses

Linguistics 101

Human Language

3 credits ☀ In person

8-week session 6/20 - 8/14

MTW 3:00-4:30

Humanities

Investigate the inner workings of human language with this introduction to the field of linguistic analysis. Learn about the fascinating diversity of human languages across the globe, and also about the intriguing commonalities that all languages share. Appropriate for both majors and non-majors and open to anyone.

Linguistics 237

Language & Immigration in Wisconsin

3 credits ☀ Online

6-week session 6/20 – 7/31

MTWR 9:30-10:45

Social Science or Humanities

Migration from abroad and other parts of North America brought and continues to bring myriad languages and dialects to Wisconsin. How and when did these immigrants and their descendants learn English and when and why did they begin to speak only English? How have immigrants shaped how English is spoken in the state?

Linguistics 211

Global Language Issues

4 credits ☀ Online

8-week session 6/20 – 8/14

Asynchronous lecture + online discussion

T or R 4:00-5:30

Social Science or Humanities

Examines the sociocultural, geographic, and political aspects of language across the globe. Explores the very real ways people's relationships and identities shape language variation and change. Includes topics such as language contact, language planning, dialectology, language discrimination, and language and its interaction with race, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality.

